

Blockchain Technology For the $79B Per Year Diamond Industry

Our team has spent over 3-years developing KimberLite Token which is the worlds first and only crypto designed specifically for trading wholesale rough diamonds.

The Diamond Industry is Worth $79B Annually, KimberLite Transactions will Account for $3.45B of these trades within Two Years

The two biggest problems faced daily in commodities deals are lost time due to slow bank transfers and high banking fees, costing traders billions annually.

KimberLite token eliminates these issues and increases efficiency throughout the supply chain utilising Blockchain technology to instantaneously send funds. While also establishing a single cryptocurrency accepted by buyers and sellers globally.

KimberLite will dominate the commodities sector as a genuine 'utility' token, however, it is not just about making financial payments. We are building a complete ecosystem focussed around diamonds.

It will include a store offering rough diamonds in Non-Fungible Token (NFT) form as well as a Metaverse 'Play-to-Earn' game where players can find real gemstones in-game worth up to $50,000.

The unique feature of our NFTs is that they will be backed by real diamonds held in bank storage. Protecting owners against depreciation and offering them the ability to change between 'virtual' and 'physical' assets at any time.

Our management team has a combined 90+ years of experience in commodities, banking, finance, and investment making them ideally qualified to lead KimberLite forward.

BSR Global Group, our parent company, are managing all technical aspects of the project. Their engineers has been developing multi-million-dollar projects for decades and retain the required know-how needed for building our software applications and Web 3 systems.

We have assembled a team of the best 'Crypto Advisors' in the world whose knowledge and advice will guarantee that KimberLite reaches its full potential.
