■ Growth: Our financial targets will be achieved through creating token demand, staggering the release of ecosystem apps KimberMarket and KimberRush as well as gradually increasing the amount of diamonds transacted.

■ Token Lock: When minting KimberLite Token we 'Locked' 95% of total supply with UNCX (formerly UniCrypt) to protect the projects ecosystem as well as our investor interests, tokens will be released on a linear pattern.

■ Supply Policy: We enforce a policy of releasing no more than 2% of newly minted tokens per month for the first 4-years after listing to promote stability, manage token supply and prevent market fluctuations that could harm our investors and project goals.

■ Circulation Control: By retaining control over the $KIMBER supply and having a predictable demand, we can control the stability of the token. This will allow the KimberLite ecosystem to efficiently scale as growth is generated.

$KIMBER's Value Proposition

Transaction Value Propelling Positive Growth

Our model ensures that $KIMBER's price is exclusively linked to our company's revenue, not other cryptocurrencies. Unlike speculative prices of other tokens, our Web2-like revenue model aims to offer stability and long-term growth.

Our token value is positively impacted by the number of diamonds transacted and the current $KIMBER in circulation.

To ensure the monthly diamond trades are financially feasible, the circulating token price must be set at an appropriate level.

The amount of diamonds traded using KimberLite Token will be gradually increased each month to achieve growth targets.

Our precise knowledge of the value of diamond consignments being transacted enables us to accurately calculate the token price.
